

PLEDGED TO RECIPROCITY

Democratic Congressmen in Caucus

FAVOR THE MEASURE

Resolution Favoring Canadian Reciprocity Agreement Carried 90 to 22. Action of the Caucus Is Made Unanimous.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Favorable action of the House on the Canadian reciprocity agreement was assured last night, when the caucus of the Democratic representatives formally pledged the party to vote for the agreement.

The resolution endorsing the Canadian agreement was carried 90 to 22. On motion of Champ Clark, the action of the caucus was made unanimous.

The 22 who voted against the resolution, it was explained later, were those who had voted for free lumber, and their action in caucus was to make their position consistent. It was stated yesterday that they would vote with the party.

The resolution adopted by the caucus follows:—

"Whereas, the Canadian reciprocity agreement negotiated by the reciprocity commission of the dominion of Canada and the president of the United States, while not formulated in accordance with Democratic platform demands, is a reduction of some of the prohibitive schedules in the Payne tariff law, will tend to expand the trade of the United States in the dominion of Canada and is in part a recognition of the principles the Democratic party has contended for in the Congress and in its platforms. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That this caucus endorse the Canadian reciprocity agreement and bind ourselves to vote for a bill carrying it into effect."

The caucus unanimously adopted a resolution presented by Mr. Cantrill of Kentucky, declaring that the caucus believes that every American farmer should have at his disposal "the information of the production and stocks on hand of agricultural products and pledge ourselves to attempt to bring about that end by legislation."

GOV. FOSS URGES RECIPROCITY MEMORIAL

Governor Sends Message to the Legislature of Massachusetts Asking Indorsement on Agreement.

Boston, Feb. 7.—A message urging that the national Congress be memorialized in behalf of Canadian reciprocity was sent to the Massachusetts legislature by Governor Foss yesterday. The message states that the people of Massachusetts demonstrated by the special election in the fourteenth congressional district last spring and by the result of the state election in November that they are committed to a policy of reciprocity.

ATTACKS NEWSPAPERMEN.

Marion Asks What Protection a Congressman Has—Inquiry Ordered.

Washington, Feb. 7.—A remarkable scene occurred in the House yesterday, when Mr. Marion of Arkansas, on motion of privilege, arraigned newspaper men, who, he said, sought to intimidate him, and dramatically asked what protection members of Congress had. The incident was the outgrowth of a passage Saturday between the Arkansas and a newspaper correspondent whom he had denounced.

The House adopted a resolution offered by Mr. Gardner of Massachusetts providing for a full investigation of the incident by a sub-committee of the judiciary committee empowered to summon and examine witnesses under oath and to report by February 18.

Physician Said Appendicitis Gall Stones Expelled by the Great Kidney Preparation

I thought I would do you a favor and let you know what Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root has done so far for me.

About one year ago I was taken sick with a terrible pain in my right side. My family physician pronounced it appendicitis. About two weeks ago I received your Almanac and read in it about weak kidneys, and my back hurting me so much, I thought I would try your Swamp-Root and to my great astonishment, after using one bottle, I expelled three gall stones, which weighed 135 grains—just think of it. My kidneys are not well yet, and so I have concluded to continue with Swamp-Root. Mr. Schwake, the druggist, thought that it never was appendicitis and that the doctor had made a mistake. It was no doubt, gall stones that caused the trouble, and they would not have come away so soon after commencing with Swamp-Root.

I shall always praise Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to all those who suffer from kidney, liver and bladder troubles and am very thankful that I ever discovered such a worthy remedy. I feel confident that it will cure me entirely of all kidney and liver trouble.

MRS. MARY J. SCHNITZER, 1902 18th St. and 5th Ave., Nebraska City, Neb.

Personally appeared before me this 31st day of August, 1909, Mrs. Mary J. Schnitzer, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Knees Became Stiff

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism The cure of Henry J. Goldstein, 14 Barton Street, Boston, Mass., is another victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years. It kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's." Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsaparilla.

House for 20 minutes regarding his experience following adjournment of the House on Saturday, when, he declared, he was approached on the floor of the House by a newspaper reporter, whom he had previously during the session denounced as a "wild, deliberate liar, a dirty pilferer of words and a contemptible little ass." The reporter, Mr. Macon said, called him a liar. "But he was well away from me when he said it," added Mr. Macon. Mr. Macon also said the reporter was accompanied to the floor by a number of his friends from the press gallery.

"The question is just this," Mr. Macon concluded: "are the members of this House to be protected by the constitution, or must they protect themselves with shotguns? If the latter is to be the policy, I want to get my gun to-day." Mr. Macon insisted that for some reason the newspapers had been unfriendly to him ever since he came into the House.

MUST RESPECT UNIFORM.

Hobson Bill to Prevent Discrimination Against Men of Army Reported. Washington, Feb. 7.—The Hobson bill to prevent discrimination in theatres and other places of public entertainment against men lawfully wearing the uniforms of the army, navy, or marine corps, was ordered favorably reported yesterday from the Senate committee on the judiciary. The bill has passed the House, but the Senate committee amended the penalty provision, reducing the fine not to exceed $500 and eliminating the imprisonment feature. The measure applies to the District of Columbia, territories and insular possessions, but it is designed to influence states and municipal governments to promulgate similar regulations.

LOOKS MORE LIKE EXTRA SESSION

This Country Apprised That Canada Will Not Consent to Allow the Question of Ratification to Drag.

Washington, Feb. 7.—That the Canadian government will not consent to allow the question of ratification of the reciprocity agreement to drag along indefinitely is an intimation which has been conveyed to Washington. Good reason exists for the belief that this country has been apprised of the attitude of the Canadian government. President Taft is believed to be aware of it.

The fact is important in its bearing on the extra session talk. While the question of an extra session continues unsettled and the subject of conflicting rumors, there is no question of the administration's anxiety to have the reciprocity agreement crowded through Congress.

The insistence of the dominion government that there be no undue delay is regarded here as likely to turn the scales in favor of an early extra session.

SCARLET FEVER AT YALE.

Capt. Howe of the Football Team Has a Mild Case.

New Haven, Feb. 7.—Capt. Arthur Howe of the Yale football eleven, who was taken to the college infirmary Saturday suffering with what seemed to be a slight attack of grippe, was Sunday night declared to be ill with scarlet fever. His case is mild, and there are no unfavorable symptoms.

It was said at the infirmary that there was every reason to believe that he would recover in about three weeks. Capt. Howe had not completed his coaching plans for next season nor for practice in the gymnasium, which, it is believed will be delayed but little by his illness. He learned with sadness yesterday afternoon that he is out of hockey for the season.

Since Christmas he has been on the hockey team, and played last Wednesday part of the game against the Springfield training school. He complained of being a trifle out of condition and left the game in the middle of the second period.

He planned to attend the meeting of rules committee in New York Friday night, but went to the infirmary that afternoon, believing that he was ill with grippe. Symptoms of scarlet fever were not present till Sunday morning.

Howe's home is in South Orange, N. J. He is a member of the junior class of the academic department. His brother, Henry Howe, was captain of the Yale crew two years ago.

Ten Men Meet Instant Death in Explosion

BODIES BLOWN TO WINDS

Only a Bare Spot of Ground Where the Powder Building Had Stood Before Explosion—Every Man in It Was Killed.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 7.—Ten men met instant death at the plant of the Pluto Powder company, in the outskirts of Ishpeming by an explosion late yesterday. One man was injured. The bodies of the dead were blown to pieces.

The dead were:—Michael O'Connor, Robert Askew, Edward Woodward, George Woodward, Thomas Ripper, Joseph Ripper, Charles Kemp, Justin Jordan, George Wallberg, Andrew Matson. All were single except Askew and O'Connor.

The explosion took place in the gelatin powderhouse. Every man in this building was blown to pieces. What caused the explosion is not known. Gelatin powder is largely composed of nitro-glycerine, and it is supposed that the mixture was being stirred in the big crucible within the house when the stuff let go.

About 1,000 pounds exploded. Only twenty minutes before the disaster 5,000 pounds of the explosive were removed. The main plant was little damaged, and the shock felt in Ishpeming was hardly perceptible. Windows at Winthrop, a mile away, however, were broken. Where the gelatin building had stood there was a stretch of bare ground, with splintered timbers scattered over a wide area around the spot. Only a few fragments of the bodies were recovered.

TWO MEN LOSE LIVES BY EXPLOSION OF GAS

Go into a House to Rescue Workmen and Are Overcome and Perish Themselves.

Carpentersville, Ill., Feb. 7.—Two men were killed and a dozen persons were injured in a gas explosion in the basement of a cottage here late yesterday. The dead are Howard Mann and Adam Oberst.

Carl Carr, manager for a gas company of Dundee, and Mann, a pipefitter, entered the basement to search for a gas leak. They were partly overcome and cried for help. Oberst, a bricklayer, heard their call. He rescued Carr, but in going in after Mann was overcome. A crowd of passing workmen entered the house to lend aid. As a half dozen of them started down the stairway into the basement, the gas became ignited from a stove and they were blown into one of the upper rooms.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 7.—An armed uprising of Greek coal miners at Kenilworth, Carbon county, was suppressed yesterday after four men had been killed, one fatally wounded and several others slightly wounded.

HARBIN PLAGUE DEAD 6,000.

Mortality Among the Physicians and the Nurses Is High.

Harbin, Manchuria, Feb. 7.—Already nearly 6,000 bodies of victims of the plague have been burned or buried in the outskirts of Harbin. Forty-eight hundred of these came from the Chinese town and a thousand from the Russian quarter. Saturday sixteen stacks of coffins and seven pits, piled with bodies and oiled logs blazed outside the town. The mortality among the physicians and the hospital attendants is high, considering the means taken for their protection, and doctors, nurses and orderlies are succumbing to the disease. The sanitary authorities hope soon to test serum of their own manufacture from the Manchurian bacilli, as the foreign importations have proved ineffective.

The happenings in Europe in the seventeenth century, when the "black death" swept through the country, are being repeated here. Fears bordering on panic have gripped the Chinese. At first they defied the medical officers and kept their sick and dead hidden for the purpose of carrying out the ancient funeral rites. Now it is brother against brother, father against son.

On ones are forced into the streets, to starve or freeze, or to fall perishing from the swift and deadly attack the plague makes upon its victims. Passersby avoid them, but sometimes these engaged in sanitary work, masked and bandaged, reach them before they die and cart them to the pest-house, or if they are dead, to the funeral pyres. Not infrequently an outcast is to be seen kneeling and making his last obeisance before the grave of an ancestor, in sight of a pile of bodies, of which he is soon to become one.

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 7.—Some $15,000 worth of freight cars were destroyed in a freight wreck on the southern division of the Boston & Maine railroad near Greenland, N. A train of about 40 freight cars, most of them loaded with coal, broke in the middle, and more than half a dozen cars were piled up on top of each other.

The train was bound for Portsmouth for Manchester. No one was injured, and traffic between this city and Manchester was resumed after several hours' delay.

Man Wanted for Murder Committed in 1899 Surrenders.

New York, Feb. 7.—A young man is under arrest here who says he is King McNamara, wanted in Lexington, Ky., for murder. He walked into an uptown police station Sunday and gave himself up of his own accord. "There is a reward of $10,000 out for me," he told the sergeant, "and I'm tired of dodging cops."

He said he killed a man in Lexington, Ky., a dozen years ago and wanted to be sent back.

Story of the Crime.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 7.—A mere accident is said to have caused the killing here in February, 1899, of Jacob Keller by King McNamara, who gave himself up in New York Sunday. Keller accidentally jostled McNamara on a crowded street, it is said, and without an exchange of words between the two men, McNamara is alleged to have shot Keller. McNamara was arrested and released on bond and disappeared. Rewards aggregating $10,000 were offered for his capture.

D.F. DAVIS' SUCCESS

Great Popularity of Plan to Sell Medicine at Half Price and Guarantee a Cure.

D. F. Davis, the enterprising druggist, rather than wait the ordinary methods of introduction, urged the Dr. Howard Co. to secure a quick sale for their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by offering the regular 50c bottle at half price.

The wonderful success of this plan was a great surprise even to Mr. Davis, and to-day there are scores of people right here in Barre who are using and praising this remarkable remedy.

In addition to selling a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's specific for 25c, D. F. Davis has so much faith in the remedy that he will refund the money to anyone whom it does not cure.

HOW DETROIT GOT "BIG FOUR."

By a Clever Trick, Tigers Secured Entire Buffalo Infield.

You should have heard the roar that shook the four corners of the baseball firmament when the sale of the "big four" leaked out. Talk of excitement! The bottom falling out of Wall street would be a mere circumstance, says Hardie Richardson, a member of the Detroit club of 1887. Every fan in the country sat up nights speculating on whether or not the gigantic deal would be sanctioned by the authorities and rival baseball magnates chagrined at the coup that had been pulled at their expense, fought as hard to annul the transaction as magnates to-day would fight to prevent any club gathering together Cobb, Lajoie, Wagner and Collins.

One Sunday afternoon in August in 1885, the first wedge was inserted which was eventually to pry the "big four" loose from Buffalo. A man whom I had never before seen strolled to the Laclede hotel in St. Louis and asked to see either Richardson or Dan Brouters. We happened to be together, so he talked to us both. He said he was W. H. Watkins and that he wished to secure our services for Detroit. He offered tempting salaries, so tempting that we decided at once to accept. Then we suggested that White and Rowe be engaged also, to assure the transfer of an entire infield. With a promise from us that we would go to Detroit in case the deal came off without a hitch, Watkins departed.

A wire awaited our arrival in Buffalo. It was from Watkins. He said that Frederick H. Stearns and Messrs. Edson and Moore, of the Edson-Morse company, would accompany him to Buffalo on a certain train to talk business with us. They also requested that Rowe and White be on hand. It didn't take the four of us long to sign up with the Detroit club. Then the quartet proceeded to buy the Buffalo club for $7,200. The Detroit people agreed to run the Buffalo club at their own expense the balance of the season.

After the game next day, we settled up so far as our dealings with Buffalo were concerned. A hack was waiting at the gate. We bundled in and hurried to the depot. We arrived in Detroit early the following morning. New York was to play that day. But the news of our capture had preceded us, and New York absolutely refused to go on with the game if any of the four of us were permitted to take part. Protests began to rain in from every quarter. Rogers and Beach of Philadelphia, Boston and Pittsburg, were all heard from in big time. The league officials tried to get hold of us to learn whether we had received money from Detroit. So we were told to separate and "beat" it before we could be questioned. We were instructed to keep in communication with the office in case we were needed.

I had no sooner doubled back to Union, N. Y., than I received word to report in Detroit at once. On my way to the train I met a letter carrier who handed me a well-filled envelope. It was from J. J. Rogers of Philadelphia, and it made me sit up and take notice. It contained an offer. When I reached Detroit, I found that the Detroit officials were attending a hastily called league meeting in New York. I gave the letter from Rogers to those left in control at the Detroit office, and it was wired to the Detroit magnates in New York. That letter saved the day for Detroit. Rogers, who was chairman of the meeting, had declared that he had neither approached nor negotiated with or for players after April 30. The letter was a stunner to Rogers. It killed his case. He was so flustered that he accused Mr. Maloney, who represented Detroit, of having robbed the United States mails.

Meanwhile the Detroit people were looking after the entertainment of the "big four," all of whom had got back to the city of the straits somehow. Judge Durfee supplied us with guns, ammunition, rubber boots and fishing tackle. Truman Newberry placed his handsome yacht at our disposal. The yacht was well stocked and well manned, and we set out upon an extended duck shooting and fishing trip. We ate the food, shot most of the fishing. But he caught "particular Ned" if the meals were not ready when the clock struck 12. It was on this trip that the party danced on the brink of eternity. Also it was one of the few occasions upon which Dan Brouters showed eloquent and to the point. Eight of us were across the St. Clair flats in a catboat for a blow. There was not room for all to be seated, but standing or sitting everyone had to work like a Trojan to bail out water to prevent us from being swamped. Those who couldn't find tin cans or buckets took their hats. The waves were breaking in, on and over us. This stage setting made Dan Brouters' speech all the more melodramatic. Said big Dan: "I will sell my life for $100, if anyone will guarantee to deliver it to my wife. There were just a few more in that boat willing to take the same chance. Detroit had some ball team after the standing of the "big four" was established.

NEW ANTI-SKIDDING DEVICE.

Invention of East Highgate Man for Automobile Users.

Just at a time when it is thought that the automobile of the present day has reached a state of perfection which precluded the possibility of any further improvement in its general utility for pleasure and enjoyment, here comes along an invention which startles the most renowned experts with its surprising effectiveness in entirely dispensing with one of the vexed questions of provision which has so entangled the manufacturers and dealers in the past and has been so apparently impossible of elimination as to be accepted as one of the insurmountable difficulties which always accompanies the greatest pleasures and enjoyments of life, no matter what its character. For it is an indispensable fact that every joy has its sorrows just as every rose has its thorn.

This little mental observation has reference to the action of an automobile in turning a corner at a given rate of speed, as well as its refusal to climb an incline on frozen ground or snow, which since its first inception has been one of the insurmountable obstacles to perfect and uninterrupted motion of a car. Some of the most eminent experts on automobiles, and their construction, have persistently maintained that a car in turning a corner at a given rate of speed must in accordance with the laws of gravity "skid," or as it is more generally termed "slide," and so debatable has the subject become and so widely divergent have been the views and opinions of acknowledged authorities that it is almost by common consent "tabooed" from discussions at meetings of the manufacturers of nearly every grade of machine that is sold on the market.

This state of affairs, however, is soon to be disrupted and forever set at rights, through the invention of Oscar A. Rixford, of East Highgate, Vermont, of a tread-tire attachment for the prevention of "skidding" by automobiles on muddy or slippery highways. The purpose of the invention has been practically accomplished in the perfection of an attachment to pneumatic and elastic tires for preventing the wheels from skidding or slipping when rounding a curve or corner, or when attempting to climb an incline covered with ice or snow or both. In the perfection of the invention a simple and practical anti-skid attachment has been devised, which by its utility under any and all conditions and circumstances is almost indispensable for the reason that it not only prevents the car from skidding and thereby endangering the lives of the occupants and threatens disaster to the machine, but it is a preserver of the tire as well as protects it from the severe and oftentimes destructive wear incident to such abusive strains as is entailed upon a car when undergoing a heavy "skid" under adverse conditions.

From the above sketch of the device it can readily be seen how feasible and practical the invention becomes when adjusted to the tire and how well adapted its use is made to meet all conditions. It is simple in its conception and substantial, yet inexpensive in its construction. The cost is so insignificant in comparison with its economical employment as to not only put it within the reach of the owner of a car of modest means, but becomes indispensable to him in the care and preservation of the
